

Yesterday's announcement that Hope isn't going to get a National Guard armory could hardly be termed startling news.

We had a big "build up" about the State Military Department going to put up such a structure when I first came to Hope nearly 21 years ago. Nothing came of it, Prescott and many a smaller city got an armory — but not for Hope.

Your correspondent, Roy Anderson and others made a trip to Little Rock just before the war, and the State Military Department assured them that Hope was "absolutely No. 1" on the list of cities scheduled for new armories. But after the war, under Governor Caney's administration, the state built armories at Camden and Forest City — but not for Hope.

It doesn't make any difference what time it is or who is governor. When a fellow tells me the State Military Department is going to build an armory in Hope I feel the armory ought to be charged at the political advertising rate. It certainly isn't news — and of course it isn't strictly news either when time discloses that the promises of 1949 aren't worth any more than the promises of 20 years ago.

This is National Newspaper Boy Day — and I can't think of a "day" closer to the hearts of the American people.

For the small newspaper carrier who delivers your daily paper near or shine, through winter's cold and summer's heat — this small boy is the most vital link in our whole system of free press and free enterprise.

His number is legion. Between 400 and 500 boys have been through The Star's carrier route organization in the last 21 years — and when you multiply this by all the newspapers in Arkansas, you realize what an impact the experience of being a carrier boy has on the outlook and belief of today's grown men. For what you learn as a boy you don't ever quite forget.

Yesterday's dispatches from the governors' conference in St. Louis indicate a favorable "break" that may end the Missouri Pacific railroad strike.

Well, here's hoping.

Sex Angle Enters Murder Trial

Little Rock, Oct. 8 —(AP)—Jurors today were to hear prosecution and defense versions of what part, if any, sexual acts may have played in the death of Seth L. Reed, Arkansas businessman.

The bloody, partly disrobed body of the 67-year-old Masonic leader was found in a Little Rock hotel room last Nov. 23.

Harold Raymond Houchins, 23, a student of the University of Arkansas medical school, was arrested several months later and is on trial in circuit court here on a charge of first degree murder.

Prosecutor Edward W. Dunaway planned to introduce as evidence today statements in which the state claims Houchins admitted voluntarily that he had homosexual relations with Reed, robbed him and then strangled him.

A deputy coroner testified at the trial's opening yesterday that Reed died of a "severe brain injury."

Permission for the statements to be submitted as evidence was granted by Judge Gus Fulk.

An all-male jury and a crowd of spectators, mostly women heard defense attorney Jack Holt declare in his opening statements yesterday:

"I'll be able to prove that Reed was a sex pervert to the nth degree. He did not even draw the color line. And when all the evidence is in I know it will be the pleasure for you gentlemen of the jury to render a verdict of not guilty."

Under cross-examination by Holt, C. Lester Hanna, Little Rock, who found Reed's body, testified that the man's "trousers were unbuttoned, and were partially down."

Little Rock police Capt. Albert Haynie, also being cross-examined by the defense attorney, said officers found "pictures of naked young men" in Reed's suitcase in the hotel room.

Holt contended that the alleged admissions by Houchins could not have been made voluntarily.

The young defendant was accompanied in the courtroom by his father and his mother. He appeared pale after months in jail and dressed neatly in a state blue suit.

Prosecutor Dunaway did not disclose whether he would seek the death penalty. He told the jury: "The time to discuss the penalty is at the conclusion of this trial."

B & PW Meeting Enters Third Day

Hot Springs, Oct. 8 —(AP)—The southern central regional conference of Business and Professional Women's clubs moved into its third day of activities here this morning.

About 800 delegates from Colorado, New Mexico, Missouri, Kansas, Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas are attending the four day meeting.

Delegates yesterday were advised that more women should enter the professional fields and enter public service. That came from Circuit Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas, Tex.

The convention closes Sunday.

WEATHER FORECAST

Arkansas: Cloudy with showers this afternoon, tonight, Sunday. Cooler in northwest Sunday.

Bobcats Too Powerful for Malvern 25-6

Stout play by the hard charging Hope line was the principal factor in last night's 25-6 win over the Malvern Leopards at Malvern.

The Hope forwards led by Watson, Garrett and Bruner held the Leopards pretty well in check throughout the contest and another lineman, and Gordon Beasley teamed with the Huddleston brothers to rack up 24 points and Edsel Nix added an extra point.

Wesley Huddleston took honors on the first Bobcat score in the opening period, cracking over from 2 yards out. Nix picked up the extra point. In the second period Gordon Beasley on the tail end of an end-around scored from 5 yards out.

Elwyn Bingen, practically the only Malvern threat, tipped a 22 yard pass to Elkins on a fourth down play just before the half for the only Malvern score. A penalty set the ball on the Hope 7 and a first down. Then the Bobcats line went to work and three plays later the Leopards were back on their 22. A desperate 4th down pass connected for the tally.

Again in the third period Gordon Beasley sidestepped his way 30 yards and in the last stanza Red Huddleston cranked over from the 8, to end scoring.

Hope led in first downs 14 to 9; the Bobcats gained 230 rushing and threw one pass complete for 25 yards, for a total of 255 yards. Malvern gained 82 yards rushing, threw 17 passes, completed 6 for 87 yards and had 2 intercepted. They made a total of 169 yards.

Hope drew 60 yards in penalties. Malvern 35; the Bobcats fumbled twice during the game both times Malvern fumbled one time with Hope recovering.

CARL BELL... Associated Press Sports Editor. Principal rivals, Dorado and Pine Bluff are continuing their winning ways, too, but Little Rock still appears to be the cock of the walk in Arkansas high school football.

The capital city Tigers opened defense of their championship in the state's highest classification—the Big Six — by drubbing Hot Springs, 56 to 7, Friday night. That was 20 points above the margin by which El Dorado beat the same team a week ago.

And while Pine Bluff's Zebras whipped 1948 Class AA champ Blytheville, 20 to 8, they fell 15 points short of the scoring blitz the Tigers ran up on the Chicks last week.

Comparative scores may not foretell what may be expected when the Big Three of the Big Six start warring among themselves, however, because, for one thing, El Dorado appears to be improving by the week. Friday night, the town Wildcats romped over North Little Rock, 39 to 0, for their third league victory and fifth triumph of the season.

None of the Big Six leaders has lost a game, Pine Bluff and Little Rock each holding four wins.

Subacute sacked up the District Four Class AA crown and a state playoff berth unscathed in the season's first 350 yard conquest of Russellville. H. L. R. A. Willett scored one touchdown and passed for two others.

Floyd Sagerly, star Van Buren fullback, ran 60 yards for one score and three touchdowns.

Passes of the Pointers topped past their toughest District 1AA obstacle, Springdale, 34 to 7.

Piggott took over the lead in the district 3A race with a 32-19 decision over last year's champion, Paragould.

Kon Carter and Phil Dixon sparked Little Rock's victory with two touchdowns apiece.

Three different backs—Don Wilcox, Jim Holmes and Francis Long—each passed for a touchdown in the touchdowns at Blytheville. Holmes caught the two he didn't throw.

El Dorado's scoring spree was led by Howard Le Blanc, who ran 90 yards with an intercepted pass for a touchdown, and Billy Wayne Ballard, who cranked the North Little Rock goal twice.

Balanced Farming Contest Books Must Be Turned in by Wednesday, October 12

All farmers in Hempstead county entered in the BNCEC Farming contest must turn in their books by Wednesday, October 12.

Oliver L. Adams, agent, not later than Wednesday, October 12, in competition enrollment which ended June 1, 142 Hempstead families entered. Details of the Negro division of contest will be announced later for benefit of 123 Negro farm families who have enrolled. Any family enrolled in the contest who does not have a record book should contact his vocational teacher or the county extension agents at once.

Contests and their families are invited to attend a banquet which has been tentatively set for November 10. The banquet is sponsored by First National Bank and Citizens National Bank of Hope. The balanced farming contest is under the direction of Hope Chamber and Commerce in cooperation with the Arkansas Press Association, vocational agricultural teachers and county extension agents.

A judging committee composed of Ed Thrash, Frank Walters and Dorsey McRae, Jr., will visit farms and homes considered having the best records. Top records will be selected by a committee consisting of the FFA supervisor, vocational teacher and a representative of the county agents office.

The winner selected in the owner and farm division by the judging committee, will represent Hempstead county at a statewide banquet in Little Rock, November 13, with all expenses paid.

All books must be returned by Wednesday, October 12, it was emphasized.

High Supports Voted Out by the Senate

Washington, Oct. 8 —(AP)—The senate took a short breather today in its effort to pass a new farm bill, after accepting the flexible price support program it once had rejected.

A late hour tangle on amendments last night put off final action until Monday, following the 45 to 26 defeat of an attempt to write in a high support provision for basic crops.

The provision—calling for government price crops at 80 per cent of parity for such farm products as cotton, wheat, corn, rice and peanuts—has been checked for support on basic crops.

It is the keystone of a house approved measure which the senate thus far has ignored in favor of a bill written by Senator Anderson (D-Mt.) The Anderson bill calls for support on basic crops varying from 75 to 90 per cent, depending on available supplies.

Last Tuesday, Senators Young (R-ND) and Russell (D-Ga.) asked the senate to throw out Anderson's flexible support plan for the 90 per cent provision. The senate turned that down.

Then it voted to reconsider. On the second vote, it approved the Young-Russell amendment on a 54 to 46 vote.

Senator Miller of Idaho Dies Suddenly

Washington, Oct. 8 —(UP)—Sen. Bert Henry Miller, 69-year-old Democratic freshman senator from Idaho, died unexpectedly at his home today.

Death was due to coronary thrombosis, the senate sergeant-at-arms office reported.

Miller was elected to the senate last November. He had resigned as justice of the Supreme court of Idaho to make his successful bid for the senate.

Navy, Marine Aviation to Be Cut in Half

Washington, Oct. 8 —(AP)—Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the house armed services committee said today the defense department has decided to cut naval and marine aviation "about in half."

Vinson's report of "secret orders" at the pentagon came as the committee dug grimly into "disturbing" reports that defense chiefs are scuttling the navy's air arm.

The armed services chairman said further that he has it on reliable authority that the air force has taken the position that no groups should be kept in the navy. Vinson spoke up as the committee started another day's hearing to get to the bottom of friction in the armed services.

Before the committee was Rear Adm. Herbert G. Hopwood, navy budget officer, to explain the navy's financial position.

Hopwood was called to tell what is happening to funds earmarked by congress for naval air.

That inquiry follows up navy charges yesterday of air force bungling and plotting.

Vinson himself relied off figures from this year's appropriation for the navy—which congress has not finally decided.

These he said, show cuts for the naval air arm that indicate "congress intended to let it wither on the vine by failing to give it enough operating aircraft."

"I have seen a reputable document indicating that decisions have been reached in the defense department to cut naval and marine aviation strength about in half and that the air force is to be given an 'expanded role,'" Vinson said.

The navy would become a protective convoy to move troops and fight submarines.

"It is my understanding that secret orders to that effect have been issued in the pentagon."

In addition to reductions being made by congress in this year's naval funds, Vinson said he understands the navy is to be cut $353,000,000 more by action of the defense department itself.

Admiral Hopwood said "yes sir, that is right."

Of that additional cut, Vinson said, naval aviation is assigned a $203,000,000 reduction. He said that is 5 7/2 per cent of the total and "far out of proportion to the rest of the navy."

Negotiations May Settle Railway Strike

St. Louis, Oct. 8 —(AP)—An early end to the crippling Missouri Pacific railroad strike was predicted by some officials today after both sides in the dispute agreed to a new settlement formula.

"Unless some unforeseen obstacle arises, the trains should be running in a week's time," said Gov. Forrest Smith of Missouri.

A plan formulated by governors and other officials of nine states served by the 7,200-mile railroad was accepted late yesterday officials of the railroad and the four striking brotherhoods.

It provides for immediate negotiations on the 283 union claims which led to the strike, now in its fifth week. The claims resulted from differences in interpretation of operating rules. They involve several million dollars in back pay claims.

Under the governors' plan, the two sides will agree on some method of disposing of any claims not resolved through negotiations. The strike would be called off immediately when such an agreement is reached.

One question remained unanswered. What if the parties to the dispute could not agree on a method of settling the claims not disposed of through negotiation. In such an event, the dispute presumably would again reach a stalemate.

"We are confident that both sides will make a diligent, conscientious effort to solve their differences as they promised they would," Governor Smith said.

"There are few, if any, issues that can't be settled with a little give and take, which we are confident they are going to do."

The plan was offered at the conclusion of the two-day governors' conference here. Leaders of the 3,000 striking trainmen were the first

State Guard Cuts Salaries, Lays Off 26 Workers
Little Rock, Oct. 8—(AP)—Trimming of salaries and lay-off of some employees has been ordered by the Arkansas National Guard.
At least 26 workers, paid by the federal government, will be eliminated from the payroll and salaries of some other employees will be cut before June 30, 1950.
Assistant Adj. Gen. H. L. McAllister said the reduction was ordered by the national guard bureau in Washington as an economy move to save about $50,000.
21 INJURED
Kansas City, Oct. 7—(AP)—A crowded passenger elevator in a downtown hotel suddenly plunged two floors yesterday and then halted with jarring impact, injuring 21 persons.
Automatic safety devices halted the elevator after it went out of control. The injured were released after a hospital examination. There, however, suffered leg fractures.
The accident occurred in the fashionable Harzard store during a heavy afternoon shopping period. The elevator dropped when a heavy steel plate holding the car's cables gave way, building superintendent Russell Fabian said.

Collect Before Delivery
It is a proved theory than successful men are likely to show resourcefulness at an early age. This story concerns a wealthy man who, when he was a boy, walked into a farmer's melon patch and asked the price of a fine big melon.
"That's 40 cents," said the farmer.
"I have only 4 cents," the boy told him.
"Well," smiled the farmer and winked at his hired hand as he pointed to a very small and very green melon, "how about that one?"
"Fine, I'll take it," the boy said, "but don't cut it off the vine yet, I'll call for it in a week or so."
Fulbright, McClellan Vote with Minority
Washington, Oct. 8—(AP)—Arkansas Senators Fulbright and McClellan voted with the minority yesterday as the senate defeated an amendment for mandatory price supports at 90 per cent of parity on basic farm crops. The amendment was rejected 45 to 26.

DOROTHY DIX

Wifely Virtues
It is a curious thing that the three virtues that men think they most desire in their wives they don't really want at all. Or rather they want them in a very limited and modified degree.
The first of course, love. Every man imagines that he wants his wife to be so madly infatuated with him that her every thought and interest is centered in him until she has no life apart from him.
But, in reality, there is nothing that a man can get fed up on so quickly as love. It is nearly always the perfectly devoted wives who have plundering husbands. They are suited for this is plain. It is not the worshipping wives who have the adoring husbands. It is the wives who keep their husbands guessing.
Men discover that an oversupply of love is the heaviest burden that a woman can lay on a man's shoulders. It can break his back and crush him down until he feels that the dust beneath his feet is the last great of freedom from his nostrils. It can cripple his ambitions, cripple his energy, kill his spirit and make him that most abject of all creatures—a brow-beaten, henpecked husband.
Too Much Love
Too much love is too much sugar in the lemon. A wife who is one who loves him well enough to know the adventure of matrimony with him, and who makes her affection that which warms him without consuming him. One who makes her kisses a treat instead of a chore.
Then there is domesticity. Men are strong on domesticity in women. Apparently their ideal of the perfect wife is the snail, who carries her home back with her ever she goes. There is no woman who exerts more than she shops and maintains and teas and such. And there is no woman they more extol than the one who has no interests outside of her house and who boast that she gave up all of her clubs when she married, and that she has never been even to the theatre of an evening since little Johnny was born.
But in real life unadulterated domesticity has not the charm for a man that it has in theory, and it is sadly true that, after parading many men, incomparable pieces of some domestic wife, who can feed their souls, and who has a peppery line of conversation that their Marias, and who will put a catfish behind her ears instead of smelling of bread and butter.
For the overly happy and happy women are bound to have something to say about the things that men think they demand in their wives is a penny-pincher. One with a Yale look on her handbag. A bargain hunter. One who would consider it a cardinal sin even to enter a beauty shop. One who would never do anything so wicked as waste any money on accoutrements.
Miserly Wife
When a man gets the miserly woman who goes about in hand-me-downs because she is cheap; who loses her looks because she won't spend the money to beautify herself; who drops out of her seat because she is so close to entertain, thing they do by sagging over the price, does he appreciate her at her true worth as a first aid to riches?
Not at all. He generally forsakes her for some woman who dresses like a millionaire and on whom he spends the money, and on whom she has saved. And likes it.
All of which goes to show that men really don't know what it is they want in a wife. Which is lucky for women.

VA Believes Program Being Abused
By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, Oct. 8—(AP)—There's been a mix-up over the GI education program.
At the root of it is the belief of the veterans administration, which runs the program, that's being abused.
This is a brief explanation of what's happened.
In 1945 congress passed a law letting World War II veterans go to school at government expense and get paid while going.
They got this under two main conditions: If they were under 25 and could show the war had interrupted their education.
In 1945 congress changed the law, wiping out the two limitations mentioned, opening the program to veterans of any age.
Then began a government philosophy from all veterans who have any education they wanted, based on their military service up to four years.
Veterans not only poured into the long-established colleges but began taking various kinds of instruction like dancing, mixing drinks, learning to fly, and even how to tell the sex of unborn chicks.
They could take these courses whether or not what they learned could be used later in making a living.
In 1948 the government philosophy changed a bit. In that year congress tightened up the law a little.
VA banned unless a veteran could prove he needed it to make a living—recreational courses like dancing, mixing drinks, and earning to fly. But—
The other courses stand—like college, the trade, such as plumbing—if they'd help a veteran learn to make a living.
He could take such courses and even switch or change them as he wished.
In August, 1949 the policy got a little tighter. Congress did it by banning the spending of government money in schools that had been in existence less than a year.
The VA, on its own, tightened up the program even more than the law itself called for in so many words. Why? On the grounds that the program is being abused.
VA now continued to ban purely recreational courses but added something else.
Under this last rule, unless he could show it was really necessary for him a veteran no longer could resume an interrupted education in a regular college, or transfer to a new course, or a new school, take post-graduate work, or enroll in schools established since 1944.
The VA released this ruling Sept. 15. It raised such a storm of protest in congress, among veterans and even among school educators, that this week VA wiped out the Sept. 15 order.
Recreational courses still are banned, unless a veteran can show how one of the courses will help him make a living. But VA now will let a veteran, without proving anything, change course, resume interrupted ones, and take post-graduate work—provided it's in the field.
For example: A veteran taking a bachelor of arts course in college could switch from chemistry to physics without having to prove anything. But a veteran who had been studying law and then wanted to switch to the ministry, which is in a different field, would have to show why.
And further—VA, under its latest ruling, knocking out its Sept. 15 ruling, won't let a veteran enroll in a school that's been in existence less than a year.
H. V. Stirling, assistant veterans administrator in charge of the education program, still thinks it's being abused because "practically every World War II veteran is eligible for education or training without regard to need, with a potential, total additional cost to the government of $60,000,000,000."
The program since 1944 has already cost the government between $8,000,000,000 and $9,000,000,000. Of the 15,000,000 veterans, most of whom are eligible for it, about 6,500,000 have used the program.
Stirling has indicated he believes the living allowance given veterans while attending school has induced many of them to take a course just to get the government money.
In addition, he says, 1,400 new schools, teaching everything from business administration to paper hanging, have sprung up in the past year, many of them just to get government money.
Under present law, Stirling says, VA can't stop all the abuses. So, apparently, stopping them is a job for congress under a changed law.
Murder Trial
Little Rock, Oct. 8—(AP)—The first degree murder trial of Harold Raymond Houchens entered the second day this morning with a new judge on the bench.
Guy Amsler, judge of the second division of Pulaski Circuit court, took the bench this morning, replacing first division Judge Gus Fulk, who became ill from an infection.
Amsler, who sat with his 71-year-old colleague during most of the trial yesterday, said Judge Fulk had been advised by his doctor to rest.
Fulk, who for the trial were to hear today prosecution and defense versions of what part unnatural sex acts may have played in the death of Seth L. Reed, Clarksville businessman, in a hotel room here last Nov. 23.
Houchens, 23-year-old University student, was arrested several months later and charged with first degree murder in Reed's death.

Riegel, Williams to Battle It Out at Fort Smith

Fort Smith, Oct. 8 —(UP)—Former National Amateur Champion Skeet Riegel today sought to snap the upset string of a Fort Smith darkhorse in the Willard Memorial Golf tournament.

The veteran Tulsa shot-maker's opponent was Alf Williams, who beat Chick Evans of Chicago, 70 and 3, and two-time champ Wilford Wheeler, Louisville, Ky., 1 up, in the first two rounds yesterday. Elimination of Wheeler left Riegel a national intercollegiate titlest Harvie Ward of Tarboro, N. C. Dale Morey of Indianapolis, and medalist Bo Winger of Guthrie, Okla., as favorites.

In the 18-hole quarterfinals at the Hardscoble Country Club, Ward met Capt. Norman Forsythe of Colorado Springs, Winger played Vincent Allison of Fort Smith, and Morey took on Cy Speed of Little Rock, Ark. Semi-finals were carded for this afternoon. The 32-hole final will be played tomorrow.

Mize Proves Purchase Was Well-Founded

By JACK HAND

Brooklyn, Oct. 8 —(UP)—If silent basketball runs true to form, he'll start big Don Newcombe against the Yanks' lefty Ed Lopat today in an all-out try to square the Brooklyn-New York World Series by grabbing the fourth game.

Time and again during the regular season, the elderly Dodger manager called on his sensational Negro rookie to work with only two days rest. Newk is strong, willing and able.

Trailing 2-1 in the best-of-seven series, most of the boys figure Shotton has to come back with Newcombe.

If Newcombe is able to turn in a reasonable facsimile of his valiant but losing effort in his opener when he struck out 11 and bowed 1-0, he should win. Games like Don turned in Wednesday afternoon don't lose twice in a row.

Looking at Shotton would have him 17-mm. winning a freshman available for a probably seventh game if he could whiff Lopat. The Yanks now are 5 to 12 favorites to win the series.

The weatherman predicting "clear" days rest, with only two days off. The Preacher might not be able to make it.

In naming Lopat, the chunky southpaw with a 15-10 season, Manager Casey Stengel followed his pre-season plan of shifting from Lopat to Alie Reynolds for the opener he planned to follow with Vic Raschi. Tommy Byrne and Lopat, that has been the order. Reynolds is due Sunday.

Lopat picked up nine hit decisions for the Yanks in the last half of the season. Four of his 15 successes were shutouts and he went all the way 14 times in 30 starts.

The Yanks never will regret the $30,000 they paid the New York Giants for Johnny Mize last Aug. 22. "Big Jaw" delivered the big pinch single that knocked out Branch in yesterday's ninth-inning.

For a man who hasn't been able to do anything but pinch hit since Aug. 22 because of a shoulder injury, the 36-year-old National League refugee is doing pretty fine. It took him 11 years to make the World Series but he's hitting 1.000.

Count Off

Talk of the benchers and clubhouse hitting backgrounds reminded Stengel of one of the all-time greats. "I've heard in all the years in baseball a player—I won't give his name—struck out one day when the benchers were empty," Casey recalled. "Then he came back and said, 'These numbers of the seats out there I lost sight of the ball right in one of those waste numbers.'"

Flatbush Foolishness

The Dodgers' asking price for Sam Jethroe and Don Blalock, their Montreal farmhands, was $300,000. The Braves decided they didn't want Blalock because he gives out many wastes, but the price they paid for Jethroe was far below that figure.

At that rate, it's hard to believe the yarn about their selling Jackie Robinson for 250,000. With the Dodgers on the brink of champions with Branch Rickey's "Big Boy" in the lineup, it is reported that Rickey would not give up his pitching rotation as "Newcombe and Roe and two days ago." Young Rickey reports that when he broiled his thumb, Cleveland's Steve O'Neill told him: "I had a break like that once. You'll be lucky if you get over it this season."

Samples of Dodger randomness on display yesterday included a character doctored out in a "Brooklyn bug" costume just like the cartoons and a gal wearing a flannel dress out to resemble the Dodgers' road uniforms.

Weak End Notes

Another football fix from baseball writers is "which Wisconsin. It could upset all the Big Ten dope."

Bill Kelley, the Green Bay Packers end, was a star today performer when he was a kid. After he broke a leg, his parents made him quit because it was "too rough." Maybe no football is okay because the Packers don't play Arkansas.

Grid note off the week from Oklahoma's Ed Williams: "We have more morale than ability."

"CHIP OFF THE OLD BLOCK"—Dickie Reidel, 10-year-old son of the famous endurance flier, is a champ in his own right. When Dickie was down to Hot Springs, Ark., he was unable to move any part of his body except his head. After four months treatment at the famed spa, the youngster is now able to walk under his own power. Dickie's mother, at right, thinks that's quite a record, too.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.

Brooklyn, Oct. 8 —(UP)—When Ebbs' field was opened in 1913 with an exhibition game between Brooklyn and the Yankees, one of the young Brooklyn athletes was Casey Stengel. The same Stengel, older and more grizzled, played the Yankees to a World Series victory over the Dodgers yesterday.

But first he spent some time recalling that opening day and how Brooklyn's undersized back looked then. "There was no screen above the right field wall and no bleachers out there in center field. . . They'd put up circus seats on big days, especially when we had our championship feat in 1916."

Casey showed yesterday. "I was no screen above the right field wall and no bleachers out there in center field. . . They'd put up circus seats on big days, especially when we had our championship feat in 1916."

When an usher brought a program and asked him to sign it for Connie Mack. . . A writer took advantage to ask: "Could those players hit the kind of pitching Preacher Roe showed yesterday?"

That almost stopped Casey. "We weren't hitting him and way he some pretty good hitters. What's DiMaggio if he hasn't been a great hitter for years?"

"I wouldn't say those fellows couldn't hit. I'm going to a dinner for them tonight. . . We had a pretty jam good ball club and we got the heck beat out of us in the World Series."

New York, Oct. 8 —(UP)—Tessa-on still is in its infancy but one of the best games of the campaign is on tap today—Army against Michigan.

These powerhouses of the gridiron—Michigan shows a winning streak of 25 straight while Army's streak stands at 13 without a loss—clash at An Arbor before a capacity crowd of 97,000.

The mighty Wolverines, who got to a squeaky start with a couple of relatively close triumphs over Michigan State and Sanford last night, are the last time they met Army.

The Cadets triumphed 20-13 with Glen Davis and Doc Blanchard carrying the ball.

This year's Wolverines, rated top in the country in this week's Associated Press Poll, will rule slight favorite over Army.

There are some other good games on today's calendar.

Oklahoma and Texas, a couple of high scoring outfits, clash in a traditional rivalry at Dallas before 70,000. This is a tossup but Oklahoma probably will have a slight edge among the experts at game time.

Steve Dano is more worried about the Tulane game next week than Purdue, while Southern Cal., which already has whipped Navy and Washington State, probably will beat Ohio State, Baylor and Arkansas are two rough-tough teams that play for keeps with the better one touchdown the winner, Kentucky, which has surprised one and all, has been installed as the choice over Georgia.

Other top games include U. C. L. A. Stanford, Yale-Columbia, Iowa-Illinois, Texas-Christians, Indiana, Washington-Oregon State and Iowa State-Colo. Colo.

Villanova edged out a bare 20-19 triumph last night over banged and battered St. Mary's of California.

In another intersectional fray at Tuscaloosa, Alabama overhauled Duquesne 34 to 8.

San Francisco upset a favored Detroit university, 30-14, and Temple whipped Syracuse 27-14.
